

Second Annual RARE Health Equity Summit

November 9 - 11, 2022, Hyatt Regency, Atlanta, GA

The RARE Health Equity Summit was developed in order to gain a better understanding of the persistent gaps that exist in the rare disease community for underrepresented and/or minoritized patient populations, including those who are still seeking a diagnosis or are unaffiliated with a disease-specific foundation.

Presented in partnership with the Rare Disease Diversity Coalition (RDDC), the RARE Health Equity Summit connects stakeholders from the rare disease community, including our RARE Health Equity Leadership Council, to find ways to collaborate on how to address inequities in the care of patients with rare diseases. Sessions may focus on shortening the diagnostic odyssey, reducing racial disparities in care, and building more inclusive research programs.

This event will provide attendees with strategic insights and tools to empower and equip them to address racial, ethnic, gender, socioeconomic, and other disparities. The outcomes of the RARE Health Equity Summit will help attendees advocate for more inclusion in the rare disease community, and will provide relevant resources and information to underrepresented and/or minoritized patients.

"For rare disease patients, there are many challenges – and for people of color with a rare disease, these challenges are compounded by systemic barriers to timely diagnosis and effective therapeutics."
